RESEARCH FOCUS:

My research focuses on inflammation and the development of depression in response to illness and stress. I aim to translate neurobiological findings into novel pharmacological and behavioral interventions. These interventions range from the application of cytokine antagonists to treatment resistant depression to teaching compassion meditation as a preventive health strategy.

GRANT SUPPORT (direct costs):

Active Support:

i. Federally and State funded:

1R01AT007297, “Inflammation, Stress, and Social Behavior: Using Ecological Assessments and Model Systems” Role: Principal Investigator. $495,000 average per year direct costs funded by National Center for Complementary and Alternative Medicine (NCCAM), September 2011—August 2015

R01AT004698, “Mechanisms of Meditation”. Role: Principal Investigator, $250,000 average per year direct costs funded by the National Center for Complementary and Alternative Medicine (NCCAM), May 2009—March 2014

R01AT004698 Competitive Supplement, “The Sounds of Compassion: Testing How Specific Elements of Meditation Change Daily Life”. Role: Principal Investigator. Approximately $250,000 for two years, August 2012 through August 2014, funded by National Center for Complementary and Alternative Medicine (NCCAM)

ii. Private and University funded:

NARSAD Independent Investigator Award from the Brain & Behavior Research Foundation, 2013-15: $100,000 to expand the study of Whole Body Hyperthermia (WBH) for the Treatment of Major Depression

The Depressive and Bipolar Disorder Alternative Treatment Foundation Research Grant to study Whole Body Hyperthermia for the Treatment of Major Depression, 2012-2014 $50,000

Private Donor Support from Barry and Janet Lang for work at the Norton School, University of Arizona, $250,000

Private Donor Support from Joni Winston to support the development of compassion meditation in adolescents and children and to aid in funding of the Compassion and Attention Longitudinal Meditation Study, $100,000.

Previous Support (direct costs):

3R01AT004698-01A1S1, “Mechanisms of Meditation” Competitive Revision, role: Principal Investigator, $237,241 per year direct costs. September 30, 2009 to September 29, 2011, funded by National Center for Complementary and Alternative Medicine (NCCAM)

NIMH R01 #MH70553, “Cytokine-CRH Interactions in IFN-alfa-induced Depression”, role—Principal Investigator, January 13, 2005 to December 31, 2009—in no cost extension, $200-225,000/year

1RC1AT005728, “Imaging Cerebral and Sub-cerebral Correlates of Meditative States”, role: Principal Investigator for Emory Sub-Award, $249,818 per year direct costs. September 30, 2009 to September 29, 2009.

R21MH077172, “Neurobiological and Behavioral Effects of Cytokine Antagonism in Major Depression”, role: Principal Investigator; January 1, 2008 to December 31, 2009—in no cost extension, $200,000 to 225,000 a year

NIH R01 #MH075102, “Neuroimmune Mechanisms of Glucocorticoid Resistance”, role - Co-Investigator, April 1, 2006 to March 31, 2011, $125-175,000/year

“A Study of Cognitively-Based Compassion Training (CBCT) to Enhance Health and Well-Being in Adolescents in Foster Care in Metropolitan Atlanta”. Role: Principal Investigator, $300,000 in American Recovery and Reinvestment Act Funding provided by the Georgia Department of Human Services. April 1, 2010 to September 30, 2010 and $250,000 in funding from Georgia DHS, 10/01/10-06/30/2011.

NIMH K23 #MH064619, “Glucocorticoid Resistance in Immune-based Depression”, role – Principal Investigator, January 1, 2002 to December 31, 2006, $105,000/year

Emory University Religion Health Collaborative Grant, Principal Investigator. 01/01/09-12/31/10. $15,000. This award will allow the development and testing of an instrument for more accurately assessing numerous aspects of meditation practice.

Emory University Contemplative Studies Initiative, Co-Director, October 2006 to September 2011, average funding $150,000/year. Co-Principal Investigator for the Program in Contemplative Practices and Optimal Health within the Contemplative Studies Initiative

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, “Interferon Alpha as a Model System to Study Chronic Fatigue Syndrome”, role—Co-principal Investigator, August 1, 2000 to September 1, 2007, $100,000 year

Emory College Seed Funding Award “Compassion Meditation as a Strategy to Protect Against Depressive Symptoms in Freshman College Students”, role Principal Investigator, September 2005 to July 2007.

NIH R01 #HL073921, “Pathophysiology of IFN-alpha-induced Sleep Disturbances”, role – Co-Investigator, March 15, 2004 to March 15, 2009, $150-175,000/year

Emory Medical Care Foundation “Body Temperature in Patients Receiving Interferon-alpha”, role: Principal Investigator; $25,000

Balm Foundation Award “Physiological Mechanisms of Advanced Tibetan Buddhist Meditation”, role—Principal Investigator, 1998-1999, $25,000

Research Studies and Clinical Trials:

- 2012- Principal Investigator, Hyperthermia for the Treatment of Major Depression: Physiological Mechanisms and Clinical Applications, Funding from the Depressive and Bipolar Disorder Alternative Treatment Foundation. Applying for support from NIH and Brain & Behavior Research Foundation (formerly NARSAD)
- 2012- Principal Investigator, Inflammation, Stress, and Social Behavior: Using Ecological Assessments and Model Systems. Funding from National Center for Complementary and Alternative Medicine (NCCAM)
- 2008- Principal Investigator, Compassion and Attention Longitudinal Meditation (CALM) Study. Funding from Emory University Strategic Initiatives, National Center for Complementary and Alternative Medicine (NCCAM) and private donor support.
- 2010-2011 Principal Investigator, A Study of Cognitively-Based Compassion Training (CBCT) to Enhance Health and Well-Being in Adolescents in Foster Care in Metropolitan Atlanta. Funding by Georgia Department of Human Services.

- 2009-2010 Co-Principal Investigator, Prevalence of Chronic Unwellness in Adolescents in the Georgia Foster Care System. Funding from Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and private donor support.
- 2006- Principal Investigator, An Evaluation of the Efficacy of the Tumor Necrosis Factor-alpha Antagonist Infliximab in Treatment Resistant Major Depression, Emory University School of Medicine, Atlanta, GA. Funding from National Institute of Mental Health (R21MH77172) and Centocor, Inc.
- 2008- Co-investigator, Pathophysiologic Mechanisms of Chronic Fatigue Syndrome: Neuroendocrinology, Neuroimaging and Genomics, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and Emory University Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences
- 2005-2007 Principal Investigator, Compassion Meditation as a Strategy for Reducing Depressive Symptoms and Physiological Stress Reactivity in Freshman College Students, Emory University School of Medicine and Emory College, Atlanta, GA. Funding from Religion and the Human Spirit Emory University Strategic Initiative and from two Emory College Seed Fund Awards. This work has resulted in a competitively scored R01 application currently in resubmission at the National Center for Complementary and Alternative Medicine
- 2002-2008 Principal Investigator, Effects of Trauma on Anxiety and Depression in Tibetan Youth Born in Tibet versus India, School of Medicine and Rollins School of Public Health, Emory University, Atlanta, GA; and Tibetan Children's Villages, Dharamsala, Himachal Pradesh, India
- 2000-2009 Co-investigator, Phenomenology and Pathophysiology of Interferon-alpha-induced Behavioral Change. I am principal investigator on several sub-projects within this large research program (reflected in being PI on a K23 and R01 related to this project)
- 2000-2006 Co-Investigator, A Multi-Center Randomized, Placebo-Controlled Trial of Paroxetine for the Treatment of Interferon-Alpha Associated Depression, Emory University School of Medicine, Atlanta, Georgia; Additional Sites: University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, PA, Rush University School of Medicine, Chicago, IL, Albert Einstein College of Medicine, Bronx, NY

FORMAL TEACHING:

Medical Student Teaching:

- 1996-1999 Medical Student Course Instructor, MP 201 Psychopathology Course. UCLA School of Medicine

- 1995-1999 Psychiatry PS 11 Instructor, Medical Students-Psychiatry Clerkship. UCLA School of Medicine
- 1999 Lecturer, second year medical students, Emory University School of Medicine
- 2004-present Mentor for Emory University School of Medicine MD/PhD Clinical Research Conference (MDPH 799r/IBS799r)
- 2005-present Directed Study supervisor for 2nd year medical students, Emory University School of Medicine
- 2006- Lecturer, second year medical students, Emory University School of Medicine
- 2007- When, Whence, Whither: how the origin, status and fate of consciousness impact the practice of medicine. Lecture for Foundations in Neuroscience series, First Year Medical Student course, Emory University.

Graduate Program and Residency Program Teaching:

- 1995 Psychiatry for the Neurologist. Developed and co-taught this lecture series for neurology residents. UCLA Neuropsychiatric Institute
- 1995-1999 Developed and taught a Board Review class for psychiatry residents. UCLA Neuropsychiatric Institute
- 1995-1999 Psychiatry 497 Instructor, Consultation-Liaison Attending Rounds, UCLA Neuropsychiatric Institute
- 1995-1999 Psychiatry 421.2 Instructor, Adult Inpatient Attending Rounds and Consultation-Liaison Psychiatry service, UCLA Neuropsychiatric Institute
- 1995-1999 Psychiatry 420 Instructor, Consultation-Liaison Grand Rounds, UCLA Neuropsychiatric Institute
- 1995-1999 PS252.01 Instructor Adult Inpatient Services Seminar, UCLA Neuropsychiatric Institute
- 1995-1999 PS350.01 Instructor Adult Psychiatry Residency Program, UCLA Neuropsychiatric Institute
- 1999-2003 Fundamentals of Consultation Liaison Psychiatry. Developed all content and taught all lectures at this weekly seminar for residents and medical students on the Grady Hospital Psychiatric Consultation Liaison Service. Emory University Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences
- 2000-2004 Instructor and case discussant, Grady Hospital Inpatient Service Weekly Clinical Case Conference, Emory University Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences

- 2000- First-year Residents' Journal Club discussion leader, Emory University Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences
- 2001- Emory University Hospital Psychiatry Residents Case Conference, interviewer and discussant, Emory University Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences
- 2000- Grady Hospital Psychiatry Residents Case Conference, interviewer and discussant, Emory University Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences
- 2003- Seasonal affective disorder and circadian rhythms lecture for Mood Disorders curriculum for PGY-3 Emory Psychiatric Residents
- 2005- Evolutionary Perspectives on the Persistence of Genes for Major Depression in the Human Gene Pool. Emory University Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences PGY-2 Inpatient Residents' Seminar
- 2005- IBS 526, Neuroscience II - Neuroanatomy and Systems Neuroscience—“Psychoimmunology Lecture”, Emory University Neurosciences Graduate Program
- 2006- Management of Depression in the Medically Ill: Novel Perspectives from Cytokine Research. Emory University Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences PGY-4 Residents' Seminar
- 2008- Immune System and Mood Disorders lecture for Mood Disorders curriculum for PGY-3 Emory Psychiatric Residents
- 2009- RLAR 737/PSYC 770: Topics in Asian Religion, “Mind and Brain from the Perspective of Buddhism and Western Science”. Guest Lecturer on Stress and Immune system interactions relevant to well being and positive psychosocial connectivity.
- 2010 Department of Cardiology Clinical Research Conference, “Cytokines Sing the Blues: Inflammation in the Pathophysiology and Treatment of Major Depression”.
- 2011- Clinical Instructor/Interviewer/Discussant for University of Arizona Department of Psychiatry Residency Program Second Year Clinical Case Conference
- 2012-13 University of Arizona Psychiatry Residency Program, “Major Depression” (core curriculum class for 3rd year residents)
- 2012-13 University of Arizona Psychiatry Residency Program, “Major Depression” (core curriculum class for 1st year residents)
- 2012 “The Significance of Depression in Pathogen Host Defense (PATHOS-D)”, lecture for the interdisciplinary “Evo-Devo” Study Group

2012 “Effects of Compassion Training on Physiological Processes Relevant to Health and Emotional Well-Being”, lecture for the Arizona Meditation Research Interest Group, an interdisciplinary study group for graduate and undergraduate students at the University of Arizona

Undergraduate Student Teaching:

2000 Psychobiological Foundations of Personhood: Tibetan Buddhist and Western Perspectives. Developed and co-taught this novel interdisciplinary class with Geshe Lobsang Tenzin, Ph.D., Department of Religion. Received a University Teaching Fund award for this work. Emory University

2001 Neuroscience and Eastern Wisdom: Similarities and Differences. Taught at the Emory Study Abroad Program in Dharamsala, India.

2006 Depression and the Immune System lecture and group discussion, Biology 470S: Biology and History of Addiction & Depression. Emory University

2006 A 360 Degree View of Addiction and Depression. A symposium on current addiction and depression issues at Emory, Biology 470S, with Charles L. Raison, Howard Kushner, Ph.D. and Mark McLeod, Ph.D.

2006 Cross-cultural views of medicine – East versus West. How has the mind/body interface been dealt with historically? Lecture with Geshe Lobsang Tenzin Negi, Ph.D. (Religion) for the Emory undergraduate class “Mind/Body Issues in Medicine (NBB470S). Emory University

2006 Phenomenology of Depression: Body, Mind and Culture. Co-course director and teacher for half-semester interdisciplinary class within Departments of Anthropology, Religion and Psychiatry, Emory University. This was a new course for which I wrote and received a University Teaching Fund award. Emory University

2004- Guest lecturer on mind-body interactions, REL 358R: Religion and Healing: Tibetan Buddhist and Western Perspectives on the Mind-Body Connection . Emory University

2007- Mind-Body Program Seminar for Issues at the Interface of Science, Spirituality and Health. Created and co-taught (with Geshe Lobsang Tenzin Negi, Ph.D.) this bi-weekly seminar is for undergraduate, medical and graduate students serving as volunteers within meditation-related research studies conducted under the auspices of the Emory Collaborative for Contemplative Studies

2008- Immune Function and health, lecture for ANT 385 003 Special Topics: Anthropology, BSHE 560R 001 Health Education Seminar – Advanced Seminar in Predictive Health and Society

- 2008-2009 Religion and Healing: Implications of Interpersonal and Interphylogenetic Relationships, lecture for Health and Healing: Understanding the Role of Religion, Religion 358, Theology School SR698, Public health: GH 590R.
- 2010- Evaluating Scientific Studies of Meditation, lecture for Health and Healing: Understanding the Role of Religion, Religion 358, Theology School SR698, Public health: GH 590R.
- 2011 Invited Lecturer, The University Course: Methland

SUPERVISORY TEACHING:

Graduate Students Directly Supervised (PhD and MPH):

- 2005-2006 Tyra Lynn Frazier, Ph.D student in the Department of Anthropology, Emory University, Atlanta, GA. I served as mentor for her research work related to meditation, depression and attachment style in college students.
- 2007-2009 Ashli Owen-Smith, Ph.D. student at Rollins School of Public Health, Emory University, Atlanta, GA. I serve as a consultant on her NRSA project on the use of Complementary and Alternative treatment modalities in patients with human immunodeficiency virus disease.
- 2007-2009 Bridhid Kleinman, Ph.D. student in Department of Psychology, Emory University, Atlanta, GA. I serve as co-dissertation advisor and mentor for her research on attachment and meditation
- 2008-2009 Beth Ann Brennan, supervised her dissertation looking at the effect of meditation training on emotional symptoms in college freshmen.
- 2008- Brooke Dodson-Lavelle, Ph.D. student in Department of Religion, Emory University, Atlanta, GA. I serve as a mentor on her dissertation project on relationships between specific meditation practices and health outcomes.
- 2007-2011 Jenny Mascaro, Ph.D. student in the Department of Anthropology, Emory University, Atlanta, GA. I served as a co-sponsor on her RSA application in the field of meditation research and sat on her dissertation committee.
- 2007- Pritpal Sidhu, Ph.D. student at Pacifica Graduate Institute, Carpinteria, CA. I serve as the external reader for Ms. Sidhu's dissertation committee on a project entitled "Mindfulness Meditation and ADHD: The Effects of Mindfulness Meditation on Increasing the Attention span in Attention-Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder".
- 2010-2011 Erica Lipizzi, MPH student at Rollins School of Public Health, Emory University. I serve as principle thesis advisor for Ms. Lipizzi who is examining predictors of engagement with meditation training that translate to improved physiological stress responses. Ms. Lipizzi is also working with me on a study of the effect of chronic immune activation on social behavior,

- 2012- Rebecca G. Reed, PhD student at the John and Doris Norton School of Family and Consumer Sciences. Ms. Reed conducted independent study under me spring semester 2012 on the role of inflammation in mental and social phenomenon. I also serve as a primary mentor and committee member for her PhD dissertation
- 2012- Clemens Janssen, PhD student at John and Doris Norton School of Family and Consumer Sciences. I am Mr. Janssen's primary mentor and thesis advisor. He is working closely with me on the application of hyperthermia for the treatment of major depression, looking in this context at the effect of skin heating on human social behavior

Post-doctoral Fellows Directly Supervised:

- 2001-2002 Marina Demitrashvili, M.D., Assistant Professor, Department of Psychiatry, Emory University School of Medicine, co-mentored with Andrew H. Miller, M.D.
- 2005-2009 Monica K. Cowles, M.D. I co-mentor this fellow with Andrew H. Miller, M.D.
- 2005-2008 Oyetunde Alagbe, M.D., Department of Psychiatry, Emory University School of Medicine, co-mentored with Andrew H. Miller, M.D.
- 2009- Donna Evon, PhD, Dept. of Psychology, University of North Carolina Chapel Hill, mentor for her K23 application to study psychotherapy in patients receiving interferon-alpha
- 2010-2011 Heather Ross, PhD, Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, Emory University School of Medicine
- 2011- Marnie Lamm, MD, T32 NCCAM-postdoctoral fellowship, I am providing mentorship on issues related to psychoneuroimmunology
- 2012- Ashley Randall, PhD, post-doctoral student at the Norton School of Family and Consumer Sciences. Dr. Randall is working with me to study behavioral and biological elements of dyadic interactions relevant to emotional health and mechanisms of action of behavioral and biological antidepressant modalities

Undergraduate Students Directly Supervised:

- 2006-2007 Marissa Krinsky, supervised research elective during Emory Semester Abroad Program in Dharamsala, India, and served as honors thesis advisor and committee chair

- 2006 Kristina Lam and Christine Blachly, supervised their research project entitled “Meditation and Depression” for Biology 470S: Biology and History of Addiction & Depression
- 2002-2004 David Buxton, supervised and helped student develop an extended research program to examine rates of depression and anxiety in Tibetan young people born and raised in exile in India/Nepal vs. Chinese-occupied Tibet. I helped student obtain a Vernacular Modernities Undergraduate Foreign Project Summer Scholarship and a Patrick Stewart Human Rights Scholarship to conduct this work.
- 2005-2007 Mentored a number of Emory undergraduate students who worked with me on my compassion meditation research project, including Walton Dumas, Doug Wetmore, Elizabeth Wilson, Drew Harbur (Sonny Carter Memorial Scholarship recipient), Ankith Kamaraju. Steven Lee and Nora Kleinman.

Medical Students Directly Supervised for Research:

- 2008- Simone M. Langness. I serve as supervisor for her second year medical school elective in Mind-Body Medicine
- 2007-2008 Timothy Johnson. I served as co-mentor with Viraj Master for a project on depression and prostate disease
- 2007 William Leasure. I served as research mentor for his 4th year Medical School research elective in which he worked on the study of compassion meditation
- 2007 Elliot Tapper, Directed study under my supervision on “The Mind-Body Connection: Clinical and Philosophical Perspectives

Other:

- 2012- Faculty Mentor for Patricia Haynes, PhD. Dr. Haynes is a well-published Assistant Professor in the Department of Psychiatry, College of Medicine, University of Arizona who specializes in bi-directional interaction of sleep physiology with traumatic stress.
- 2006-2008 Founding faculty, co-creator of neuroscience curriculum and lecturer for Emory-Tibetan Science Education project for Monks, a collaborative project with the Library of Tibetan Works and Archives. With Preetha Ram (assistant dean of science education) and Geshe Lobsang (Department of Religion) I met with His Holiness the Dalai Lama in the summer of 2006 in Dharamsala, India, to articulate and plan an integrated science education program for Tibetan Buddhist monks in their final stages of monastic training. With Carol Worthman and Jim Rilling I developed the neuroscience curriculum for the first year’s program. I helped initiate the first Science Education session by spending 10 days during June 2008 teaching neuroscience (with Carol Worthman, Anthropology) to 40 Tibetan Buddhist monks and nuns in Dharamsala, India.
